

Last week we worked on polishing up and finalizing a presentation and live demo showcasing for UConn open house. This week, I focused on taking that slideshow and refining it to fit the requirements for UConn College of Engineering's Senior Design Project requirements. The main challenge is getting everything to fit in a 5-minute presentation. I am need to discuss with the team what things we can remove to save time, perhaps we need to have a meeting about this to discuss the specifics of what to remove or keep.
